

The Story of 2 Guys

Once there were 2 guys.....

One of the guys believed that Jesus was God. He repented of sin and tried his best to follow God and His Word. This guy believed that faith in Jesus saved him from hell<sup>1</sup>, and gave him eternity in heaven forever<sup>2</sup>.

The second guy didn't believe in God. He believed that after you die, there is just nothing. He believed that death was the end of consciousness--you died, and then you didn't know anything else.

The 2 guys were friends. The guy who believed in Jesus sometimes tried to tell his friend about his belief, but the second guy used to always reply: "Nobody knows what happens to you after you die."

Well, finally the 2 guys both died.

What happened?

The Story of 2 Guys

Once there were 2 guys.....

One of the guys believed that Jesus was God. He repented of sin and tried his best to follow God and His Word. This guy believed that faith in Jesus saved him from hell<sup>1</sup>, and gave him eternity in heaven forever<sup>2</sup>.

The second guy didn't believe in God. He believed that after you die, there is just nothing. He believed that death was the end of consciousness--you died, and then you didn't know anything else.

The 2 guys were friends. The guy who believed in Jesus sometimes tried to tell his friend about his belief, but the second guy used to always reply: "Nobody knows what happens to you after you die."

Well, finally the 2 guys both died.

What happened?

The Story of 2 Guys

Once there were 2 guys.....

One of the guys believed that Jesus was God. He repented of sin and tried his best to follow God and His Word. This guy believed that faith in Jesus saved him from hell<sup>1</sup>, and gave him eternity in heaven forever<sup>2</sup>.

The second guy didn't believe in God. He believed that after you die, there is just nothing. He believed that death was the end of consciousness--you died, and then you didn't know anything else.

The 2 guys were friends. The guy who believed in Jesus sometimes tried to tell his friend about his belief, but the second guy used to always reply: "Nobody knows what happens to you after you die."

Well, finally the 2 guys both died.

What happened?

Let's presume that the second guy was right, that "Nobody knows what happens to you after you die." This looked like a logical conclusion to the second guy, since it seemed to him, that once someone is dead, they can't come back and tell you what happened<sup>3</sup>.

There are then,
2 possibilities.....

If the second guy was right, and after death there is just "oblivion", then, after he died, he never even found out he was right! All there was after death was nothing--emptiness. At the same time, the guy who believed in Jesus died, and never found out he was wrong!

On the other hand, if the first guy was right, after he died, he walked on streets of gold<sup>4</sup>, had a mansion prepared for him<sup>5</sup>, got to meet God<sup>6</sup>, and lived forever in perfect peace with untold numbers of other believers who all loved him as brothers and sisters<sup>7</sup>.

As for the second guy.....well, he went to a place called hell, where he was tormented<sup>8</sup>, burned<sup>9</sup>, tortured and controlled by Satan<sup>10</sup>, and taken completely out of God's presence and love for all eternity.

Use logic.
Doesn't it make much more sense to believe in Jesus?

scripture references:

- |                   |                 |
|-------------------|-----------------|
| 1 Romans 10:9-10, | 2 John 3:16-17, |
| 3. Luke 16:20-31  | 4. Rev. 21:21,  |
| 5. John 14:2      | 6. 1Cor. 13:12, |
| 7. Rev. 7:9-10    | 8. Rev. 14:11   |
| 9. Rev. 21:8      | 10. Luke 12:5   |

CUT--HERE

Let's presume that the second guy was right, that "Nobody knows what happens to you after you die." This looked like a logical conclusion to the second guy, since it seemed to him, that once someone is dead, they can't come back and tell you what happened<sup>3</sup>.

There are then,
2 possibilities.....

If the second guy was right, and after death there is just "oblivion", then, after he died, he never even found out he was right! All there was after death was nothing--emptiness. At the same time, the guy who believed in Jesus died, and never found out he was wrong!

On the other hand, if the first guy was right, after he died, he walked on streets of gold<sup>4</sup>, had a mansion prepared for him<sup>5</sup>, got to meet God<sup>6</sup>, and lived forever in perfect peace with untold numbers of other believers who all loved him as brothers and sisters<sup>7</sup>.

As for the second guy.....well, he went to a place called hell, where he was tormented<sup>8</sup>, burned<sup>9</sup>, tortured and controlled by Satan<sup>10</sup>, and taken completely out of God's presence and love for all eternity.

Use logic.
Doesn't it make much more sense to believe in Jesus?

scripture references:

- |                   |                 |
|-------------------|-----------------|
| 1 Romans 10:9-10, | 2 John 3:16-17, |
| 3. Luke 16:20-31  | 4. Rev. 21:21,  |
| 5. John 14:2      | 6. 1Cor. 13:12, |
| 7. Rev. 7:9-10    | 8. Rev. 14:11   |
| 9. Rev. 21:8      | 10. Luke 12:5   |

CUT--HERE

Let's presume that the second guy was right, that "Nobody knows what happens to you after you die." This looked like a logical conclusion to the second guy, since it seemed to him, that once someone is dead, they can't come back and tell you what happened<sup>3</sup>.

There are then,
2 possibilities.....

If the second guy was right, and after death there is just "oblivion", then, after he died, he never even found out he was right! All there was after death was nothing--emptiness. At the same time, the guy who believed in Jesus died, and never found out he was wrong!

On the other hand, if the first guy was right, after he died, he walked on streets of gold<sup>4</sup>, had a mansion prepared for him<sup>5</sup>, got to meet God<sup>6</sup>, and lived forever in perfect peace with untold numbers of other believers who all loved him as brothers and sisters<sup>7</sup>.

As for the second guy.....well, he went to a place called hell, where he was tormented<sup>8</sup>, burned<sup>9</sup>, tortured and controlled by Satan<sup>10</sup>, and taken completely out of God's presence and love for all eternity.

Use logic.
Doesn't it make much more sense to believe in Jesus?

scripture references:

- |                   |                 |
|-------------------|-----------------|
| 1 Romans 10:9-10, | 2 John 3:16-17, |
| 3. Luke 16:20-31  | 4. Rev. 21:21,  |
| 5. John 14:2      | 6. 1Cor. 13:12, |
| 7. Rev. 7:9-10    | 8. Rev. 14:11   |
| 9. Rev. 21:8      | 10. Luke 12:5   |