

I Remember You

*So beautiful this child her age about two Black dress with flowers, and black hair too
Her eyes were black she wore white lacey socks
And little white shoes that went clippity clop*

*Down the hall she ran with hands held high
Tears in her eyes from the continuous cry
Looking for comfort only a grandfather could provide
I knelt down with my arms opened wide*

*So innocently this child with little black eyes
Leaped into my arms for the love I would provide
With her little arms wrapped around my neck
Her face pressed to mine as I patted her back*

*I kissed her cheek and she began to smile
Safe in my arms and safe from harm
I gave her a sucker she was happy indeed
Those little black eyes kept looking at me*

*We played in the grass and I chased her a time or two
She laughed and giggled as most children do
So soon our visit would be a memory of the past
With a desire to return to this child in black*

*The disease she has will soon claim her life
And if I return she'll be nowhere in sight
She'll never see adulthood and I'll never understand why
This child so innocent will soon have to die*

*In Heaven I know this child will be found
Laughing and playing and running around
But it's my hope and prayer that I'll share with you
When I get to heaven she'll say, I Remember You*

*For the child in the aids orphanage
Inspired by My Lord and Savior Jesus Christ
To him I give all the Glory Honor and Praise*
