Compiled upon layers of jelly fish. There are sea shells and ones of crabs and starfish. There are skeletons hidden. They are almost shells, and plenty of skeletons hidden. They are almost looking like eye spy puzzle, like you have to find the right objects in order to find the right object.
They are all his disciples, and Jesus is confidently taking the leadership position, with all of his disciples following suit.
I suppose they all saw him emerge from his hiding place behind the overhanging sea weeds, and he had a meeting place to convene and converse with them about their plans and where they wanted to go and what they aspired to accomplish. In this convening together Jesus was standing in the middle of a circle of all these disciples as they were talking. Jesus had a calm expression on his face, almost as if this were predicting what would happen. He stood there quietly, not having a reaction to this next situation. There was another girl who was standing in the middle of this other crowd of people, part of another club. She was Jesus Fangirl, and she always felt something on her leg to be healed, and word got out please help her. This was because Jesus had been going from house to house, and he was healing people and this too please many people. It was on my neck, and that means Jesus was visiting my house.

There was a curve of the beach, and Jesus Christ was walking with this crowd of his disciples around him. There was a large mountain of sand on a hill, and the sun was crystalline clear with pebbles and rocks and a very fine, sandy texture and a perfect teal shade, far the beach and there was a very large sunlit glow across the beach, as if it was announced by god that Jesus and his disciples. The disciples are nameless, and only about about half of them, six or seven, are walking clothed in fine robes and eastern cloths with delicate cores. They are also faceless, so I cannot recognize exactly how they looked. But they are a fine bunch gathered around Jesus and walking across the gorgeous sunlit beach with their sandals off robes. There is no dialogue, but you can get a sense of the companionship and closeness. Jesus is the most beautiful, outstanding, one leaf, and on sandunes.

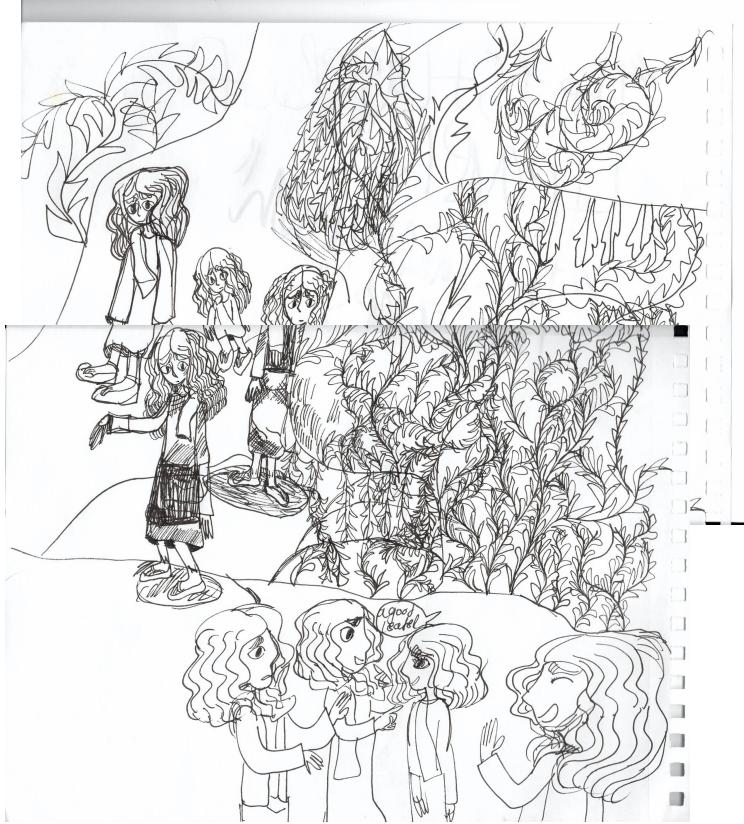

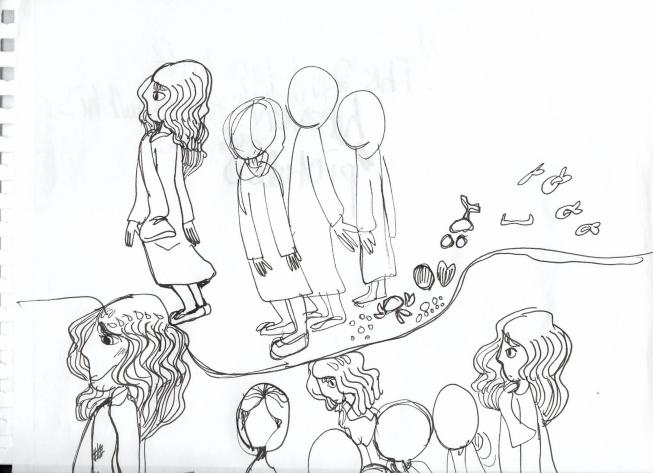

Satin cloths with generic colors, and the world they're in. I cannot recognize exactly how they looked. But they are all in bunchy, gathered around JESUS and walking across the gorgeous sunlit beach with their sandals and robes. There is no dialogue, but you can get a sense of the companionship and closeness they have, and JESUS is the most beautiful, outstanding vision of a man, and such a fine leather, and an enormous outstanding glowing presence. JESUS walks with absolute certainty, and he is still and calm, but you feel the lush of emotions and the desire to be with him and be close to him. His gait is sturdy and he has a long, graceful white robe on, with legs that are comfortable and sturdy, and perfectly fitted sandals that are brown and prevent a wheel that has dark green vines and leaves, and a sturdy appearance to the wheel, and pieces of faint art shadowing up at least

THIS IS THE FIRST layer of heaven that JESUS FIRST revealed himself IN. There IS a beach, filled with bones of fish and clabs, and crustaceans of all the sea. They've all been layers of sediment that have been washed up in years and have been eroded on the beach. They were real skeletons once, fish and clabs with their crustaceous files to swim about in the sea, with
