

Abundant Life

Hopelessness and lack of purpose is the characteristics of our generation. We have invented all sorts of pleasures and material possessions with our advanced technology. Still none of them give us real joy and peace. We are working hard, but end up with frustration and disappointments. Why?

We are made not to be satisfied with what we see or do. None of these visible things will give lasting joy, peace and meaning.

We are designed and created by an intelligent designer and creator. We are not animals or evolved from animals. We have an invisible spirit in us to make communication and fellowship with our creator God.

The first man broke that relationship with God by disobedience. Since then man became a hopeless wanderer in the world.
